Gerard was born and raised in the New Orleans area. After serving in the Navy and earning his Bachelor of Science in Kinesiology from Washington State University, returned to New Orleans with the intent of staying. However, shortly after earning a Master of Health Administration from Tulane University, Hurricane Katrina displaced his family to the Shreveport-Bossier area which has now become their home.

Gerard has worked in healthcare for 19 years including time as a Hospital Corpsman in the Navy, as a Correctional Medical Specialist in prison health services, as a Certified Athletic Trainer with various high school, college, and semi-pro teams, as an administrative resident, and as adjunct faculty in Allied Health at the college level.

Gerard believes his lack of political connections is a positive as it means he owes no one any favors and can do what is right for the people of Louisiana without regard to political favors. He feels he is connected to the average citizen more-so than career politicians and can be the voice of the people of Louisiana.
